National Sea trawlers christened

The Cape d'Or II and the Cape Hunter were christened in a twin ceremony at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday of last week by the wives of the Captains of the two vessels. Master of Ceremonies for the event was Burin MHA, Justice Minister T. Alex Hickman who is a member of the Board of Directors for the Shipyard. Mr. Hickman presented two sponsors with engraved silver trays as mementos of the occasion. The completion of these two trawlers marks the end of a commitment made to the former Liberal Government in a deal which saw the reactivation of the Ross-Steers fish plant in St. John's. The reactivation of this plant and a building program for the Marystown Shipyard were two problems facing the Government of the day and since the government would supply a large amount of money to enable National Sea Products to take over the Ross-Steers operation, they felt that the shipyard should benefit from the shipbuilding program undertaken by National Sea to service this plant and a deal was made to build six trawlers here. However, National Sea was reluctant to commit themselves to six ships in the Marystown yard right away as it had been out of the construction area for some time. The reputation in the shipping world was not very high. A consequence of this was decided to build two each at Halifax, Placentia and Marystown, with the additional four to build at St. John's. However, the Marystown Yard finished the two well ahead of schedule and the quality of craftsmanship was comparable to if not surpassing that of the other yards. The yard subsequently built the second two and now this last two trawlers in this particular group. Today each lowly yard now has a reputation second to none in Canada and can look on to a bright future. During the christening ceremonies, Placentia and Marytown, West MHA Leo Barry, announced that an Eastern加拿大 company had signed a letter of intent for the supply of a 100 foot tug. The contract is valued at $4,000,000.00 and it is hoped that it will be finalized in the near future.

Shipyard Manager, William Millien said that if the yard is indeed successful in getting the contract they would be into planning their rebuilding within two months. The completion of the contract, he said, would depend to some extent upon the availability of material and equipment.

Barry meets with Fox Cove-Mortier Council

Placentia West MHA Leo Barry met with the Council of the Local Improvement District of Fox Cove Mortier last week and a spokesman for the Council said that while Mr. Barry made no promises, the meeting was a good one.

The Council in that area is currently trying to abolish the ward system. In the name of unity, they say, this is not the ideal system as it will not permit residents from one ward or Community to either nominate or vote for residents of the other ward or Community. They are also attempting to have the status of the Council changed from a Local Improvement District Council to a Community Council. Mr. Barry gave them some advice as to how to go about this.

The Council also questioned Mr. Barry on the possibility of getting some additional funds to complete their town hall. The Council has purchased land and a building for this purpose and have moved the building onto the land. They now need money to finish the building inside and to do some landscaping. Mr. Barry's advice to them was to apply for a LIP grant and he said the Provincial Government would support their application.

The question of dredging the Mortier Harbour Mr. Barry advised the council to arrange meetings with the proper Federal authorities on the matter. He informed Council that he had made representation on their behalf to the Government.

The dispute entering its eleventh week and there is still no end in sight. The CNTU, parent body of the St. Lawrence Workers Protective Union have asked Professor Howard Dyer to delay presenting his report to Hanover Minister Ed Maynard as they are now in the process of preparing a brief for presentation to Professor Dyer. This brief will be sent to the Minister and it is hoped that it will be presented to Professor Dyer early this week and he will then make his report to Mr. Maynard. Professor Dyer has been in St. Lawrence last week for meetings with both sides. However, he was unsuccessful in a bid to get both sides together. (Continued on page 2)
Funeral home changes name

A well-known and respected name in the funeral business in central Newfoundland will be changing in the immediate future.

Hogan’s Funeral Home will now be known as Woolfrey Funeral Homes, as Island Services Ltd., owned by A.T. Woolfrey and Brothers of Liverpool assumes complete ownership of the enterprise. Woolfrey had been a partner with James Hogan of Windsor in the funeral home business since its inception, but now has purchased Mr. Hogan’s share.

Jim Maidment, managing director of the Windsor and Marystown funeral homes, said only those outlets are affected by the name change.

He also drew attention to the fact that only the name is changed; the customary good service which area residents have come to expect from the funeral home will remain the same.

Cashin on Peninsula for meetings

Richard Cashin, President of the NFFA-WLU has been on the Burin Peninsula and other parts of the South Coast during the past week meeting with Union locals and preparing proposals to be made for upcoming contracts, most of which expire before the end of September. There is speculation that the plant workers will ask for a large settlement, but no executive member will comment on this.

Burin, Lewins Cove hold joint meeting

A joint meeting was held between the Council of Burin and Lewins Cove last week. The Councils discussed a number of subjects of common interest and reached a number of decisions.

The main concern of both councils was the provision of water and sewer facilities. The two councils agreed that since Lewins Cove has recently received approval to borrow for the installation of water and sewer services in their town, they could reduce operating and maintenance cost by utilizing a common water supply and sewage treatment plant. The connection and fee for the use of water by Lewins Cove would be negotiated. Both towns were receptive to the idea of common utilization of services and it was agreed that Lewins Cove Council would approach the Dept. of Municipal Affairs and ask them to look into the possibility of one sewage treatment plant to serve both communities.

The councils also discussed the lack of road signs, particularly detailed signs concerning the location of Freshwater Park. Since the park is within the Lewins Cove boundaries it was agreed that the Lewins Cove council would approach the Dept. of Transportation and Communication on this matter.

There was also some discussion on the possibility of Lewins Cove helping to defray the cost of fire fighting and ambulance services as both communities are covered by the equipment from Burin. The Lewins Cove council plans to make an attempt to obtain some funds to assist Burin with this.

Barry meets

A spokesman for Council said the harbour is so badly in need of dredging that the fisherman in that community will soon have to quit fishing if it isn’t improved.

Mr. Barry made their feelings known to Mr. Barry regarding the poor treatment they feel they are getting from the Dept. of Transportation and Communications. The four main problems are lack of painted lines on the pavement, snowclearing, lack of proper shoulders and lack of quadrails. Mr. Barry said he would look into the matter.

One other problem the Council asked Mr. Barry to look into is the paving of the Mortier Salmonier Highway. A spokesman for the Council said that this highway is fast becoming the main link between the two areas.

Water supply to be fluoridated

The Burin Town Council is in the process of ordering the necessary equipment for the fluoridation of the Town’s water supply. This decision was reached some time ago, and the council will now have the equipment brought in. A spokesman for the Council said that the fluoridation will be completed by late fall.

The Southern Gazette, August 13, 1975-3
Editorial

The countryside is a mess - garbage strewn about by the ordinary householders and by campers who leave their garbage just where they drop it. The whole situation is disgraceful and sickening. It is hard to believe that people can be so careless and unthinking about the world we live in and the effects this kind of thing will have on it.

It would seem that it is virtually pointless for the government to have anti-litter laws and for municipalities to try to keep their areas cleaned up. The large majority of people will keep things tidy and would not think of throwing things on the roads or countryside, but there is little doubt that the minority can cause enough damage in this way to make life difficult for all of us.

It is not logical to think we can have the police out watching to see that no one breaks the anti-litter law and that municipalities having a private individual patrolling the communities would be astronomical. In any event, the culprits make sure there is no one in sight when they dump their refuse.

There are several things that perhaps could be done, but for the most part they are impractical and expensive. Therefore it would appear that the only hope is to train the younger generation to have pride in their surroundings and to have a concern for the environment and themselves which is obviously not felt by the present generation of adults. If the young people are raised with this kind of pride, the countryside will soon be clean and fresh again and will stay that way with little effort. Maybe the younger generation will then point out the problems encountered when people have such a disregard for their surroundings.

As for those people camping - a word of advice. It should be easy to find out where there is a nearby approved dumping area and dispose of the garbage there - or bury it if there isn't one.

If the younger generation is indeed our only hope - then we should be able to look forward to the day that they have proper training and an understanding of the world about them. Civics classes should be part of their curriculum and students should be encouraged by the teachers and parents to give good example in these matters.

If something is not done, and done soon, the pollution of forests and streams will reach a point where nothing can be done and we will choke in our own garbage.

Three major problems

William Morrow, President of National Seal Products Limited said Thursday that he sees three major problems facing the fishing industry. Morrow was speaking at the christening of two National Sea Trawlers in Marystown Thursday.

Mr. Morrow said that the first problem, and perhaps the most serious, is source. He went on to say that unless we get control of the 300 mile economic zone, there will be some serious problems in this area.

The second problem he feels is inflation and he went on to say that without having any industry hit as badly by inflation as the fishing industry. He said that this is because the fishing industry is not only capital intensive, but is labour intensive as well.

The third problem would have to be markets, he said. However, he felt that this would not be a big problem if Canada gets control of the economic zone and the fishing companies can fish economically.

Mr. Morrow said that the Government of Canada could work out some agreements with the other fishing nations if Canada gets control of the economic zone and the fishing companies can fish economically.

Hiking trail abandoned

A hiking trail built in Grand Bank in 1973 appears to be the responsibility of no particular group or individual. This trail was started with an O.P.S. grant for $6,000.00 and completed with financial assistance from the Council; Lions Club and the Legion Club. The eightteen chapters involved worked long and hard and developed a lovely trail. However, it is not so lovely now. The trees have been cut, picnic sites destroyed and it has been used as a place to get rid of garbage. It appears that no group took any responsibility for the project once it was completed and it now seems that no one is interested.

Delay in Fortune federal building

It appears that there will be another delay in the construction of a Federal Building in the town of Fortune. Tenders for the construction for the building closed late June and it was expected that the contract would have been awarded in early or mid-July.

To date there has been no indication that the contract will be awarded or when. Council has been attempting to get information on this situation but have not been successful in this.

Bits-n-Pieces

Congratulations to the winners of the Electrical Scholarships on the Burin Peninsula. This is an indication of the hard work put into their studies. We wish them luck in their further studies.

I see that some areas are still waiting for the center lines to be painted on the paving. In fact one person told me the dots have been put in preparation having the lines painted on. The only problem, according to him is that the dots have been there so long that they need to be repainted. How's that for efficiency?

It's encouraging to see the surveyors working on the hospital site. I wonder if they have a design chosen yet? The building of the hospital should bring a lot of employment and other beneficial changes to the whole area.

See the Town of Marystown now has some unique signs at its borders welcoming visitors to the town. This is a nice idea and most of the towns on the Peninsula now have these. It is no longer confusing for tourists as they now know just where they are.

Our sincere congratulations must surely be offered to Miss Betty Matthews of Fortune on her great achievement. The loss of 101 lbs. is a fantastic triumph. There are a lot of people who must be green with envy, Betty.

It's good to see the construction picking up in all the Peninsula towns. I understand that new construction starts have been up each year in all the major towns lately.

Best wishes to the Marystown Kinmen and Knette executives who will be officially installed Saturday night. Both these Clubs are a real credit to their towns and if the new executives follow the example of their predecessors, as I am sure they will, they can look to some exciting things in the next year.

I understand the Marystown Lions Club is starting a Youth Club. This is a commendable project. We wish them well with it and say to them - this has great potential. Good luck with it.

The christening ceremonies held at the shipyard last Thursday were impressive. Somehow, you never get tired of this ceremony which, while having a sameness about the actual ceremony, holds a certain appeal to us, especially those of us who are of a romantic bent. Things were so well organized that Mr. Millen even arranged for the rain to stop in time!!

A word of praise is certainly due to the three young men who are in the Burin Peninsula Wheel Chair Sports Association. These three just will not give up in their efforts to be successful. It's too bad we don't all have their determination and faith in ourselves and others.

Everyone is speculating that there is going to be an election soon as I might as well jump on the wagon. My reason for feeling this way is the number of people who have been hearing these days. It would almost remind you of the Smallwood days. Of course, he taught a lot of lessons in this type of campaigning and it is not strange that the other party picked up his habits.

Province and Power Corporation of Canada sign agreement on plan for Bell Island mines

In a move which may ultimately bring back economic security to the residents of Bell Island, an agreement for a $20,000,000 study to verify the feasibility of using the island’s long-abandoned iron ore mines as a major underground oil storage facility was signed Thursday, Aug. 7, by the Newfoundland Government and one of Canada’s largest financial conglomerates.

The agreement was signed by Premier Frank Moores and Industrial Development Minister William Doody, joined by Paul Desmarais, Chairman of the Board of Power Corporation of Canada for Wabanex Enterprises Limited, the company which will actually carry out the study, and which will undertake the subsequent oil storage development if the study finds that it is feasible.

The signing took place at a public meeting at Bell Island, in the presence of an estimated 500 residents of Bell Island, in the C.L.S. Armada Ship Lines, Consolidated Bathurst, Dominion Gasco, the Great West Life, “to name but a few.”

Expanding on the Premier’s remarks, Mr. Doody said the agreement makes provision for a period of up to two years for the detailed and economic assessment, at the end of which time the company was to report to the Government on such matters as:

- An evaluation of the technical feasibility of the project;
- A comprehensive economic impact study;
- An opinion by competent authorities as to whether mining operations can be carried out simultaneously with the storage development project;
- The company’s estimates of the amount of expenditures which will be made on local materials, local labour, and suppliers capable of meeting the requirements of the project, with first priorities to those on Bell Island, and to those elsewhere in Newfoundland and Labrador in the development project.
- A report on financial arrangements and potential customers.

If the report shows the project to be economically viable, as we are confident it will,” Mr. Doody said, “the company would be authorized to carry out the study of the Wabanex Mines. The Government would receive a rental of a fixed amount increasing from 4 percent in the first five years of operation up to 7 percent in the last 20 years of operation.

In addition, Mr. Doody said, the agreement contains a provision under which the Government would receive 25 percent of any revenue which might accrue to the company as a result of increases in the first rate charged to its customers increasing by more than 50 percent after the first five years of operation.

Mr. Doody added that the company has undertaken to develop subsequent phases of the facility “no later than 12 years after the first phase is in operation.”

If the company does not develop subsequent phases within that 12-year period, he said, the Government can take over the unused facilities of its own purposes.

“In addition, 20 percent of the storage capacity in Phase One, and 50 percent of the storage capacity developed in all subsequent phases will be reserved for use by the Government, should it be required,” Mr. Doody said.

Pointing to the benefits the project could have for the economy of the province, “and in particular that of Bell Island Mr. Doody said that, in addition to the capital expenditure of more than $104 million referred to by Premier Moores, and to the emphasis on the local companies, men, materials and supplies, the company had committed itself to disbursing $50,000 annually as a grant in lieu of local taxes.

In his remarks, Mr. Desmarais, Chairman of the Power Corporation of Canada, pointed out that Wabanex Enterprises Limited, the company making the study and to be responsible for any subsequent development, was formed by three shareholding companies, with the Power Corporation being the principal holder, with 60 percent. The other two participating companies, he said, were Gulf Interstate Company (a Houston-based engineering and consulting firm for producers, transporters, marketers and users of energy), with 30 percent, and holding in Wabanex; and Energy Investment & Management Limited (a development company owned by a wide-ranging group of large financial and industrial corporations), also with 20 percent holding in Wabanex.

Premier Frank D. Moores is joined by Paul Desmarais, Chairman of Power Corporation of Canada (left) and the Hon. William Doody, Minister of Industrial Development (right) during the signing of the agreement between Power Corp. and the Newfoundland Government to verify the feasibility of using Bell Island’s long-abandoned iron mines as a major underground oil storage facility.

“We hope this is only the beginning of a very large and very long-term commitment to the economy of Bell Island and Newfoundland,” Mr. Desmarais added. “When the project comes to pass, it will do a great deal to stabilize the energy supply situation in Eastern Canada and the United States…We will be working very closely with the provincial and federal governments, and will keep them fully informed.”

MEN WANTED for Hazardous Journey. Small wages, bitter cold, long months of complete darkness, constant danger, safe return doubtful. Honor and recognition in case of success — Ernest Shackleton.

This advertisement, written by Ernest Shackleton, appeared in London newspapers in 1907.

The southern Gazette
Reacts to Cabinet leak on fishery restructure

Opposition Leader Roberts reacted strongly to a report recently that the Federal Government was ready to restructure the East Coast fishing industry. A letter from the Opposition Leader to Federal Fisheries Minister, Romeo LeBlanc, was released to the press.

Honourable Romeo LeBlanc, M.P., P.C., Minister of State (Fisheries), Government of Canada, Ottawa.

Dear Romeo,

Monday's report by the Canadian Press of the contents of an alleged Cabinet Paper setting forth a proposal for the restructuring of the East Coast fishing industry has raised deep-seated and widespread concerns in Newfoundland and Labrador. The only information which I have, of course, is that which is contained in the C.P. report. But based on that I am extremely anxious and concerned.

I am the first to agree that the fishing industry in our Province is in the deepest possible trouble, and that its very survival is in question. It is absolutely unthinkable that the industry die, because our Province would die with it.

Within recent months you and your colleagues in the Government of Canada have done much to keep the industry alive by pouring into it many millions of dollars. We all realize that these are merely stop-gap measures, as you have often said. And we all support any plan which will truly benefit our fishing industry and the thousands of our people who draw their livelihood from it. But such a plan must be founded firmly on the basic reality of the situation.

The basic reality is that the fishery in Newfoundland and Labrador is more than an economic enterprise. The fishery in our Province is a great social matter. Large parts of our Province could not exist without the fishery. The South Coast depends on the deep sea fishery; the North East Coast, the North West Coast, and the Coast of Labrador depend in large measure upon the traditional inshore fishery with the deep sea fishery becoming of growing importance in recent years. Because our fishery is even more important socially than economically, any policy which is not founded totally on a complete recognition of these facts and the principles which flow from it would have the gravest possible consequences for large numbers of our people.

To speak quite frankly, we find what is suggested in the C.P. report frightening. It seems to me that the plan suggested therein is based only on economic considerations. This would be completely unacceptable to me and my colleagues. We would fight to the last ditch against any plan or proposal which would have the result of hurting large numbers of our people.

This is a matter of the utmost importance. Accordingly, we request firmly an assurance from you that any proposals made by the Government of Canada for restructuring and improvement of the fisheries would be founded on principles I have outlined. Secondly, we request an assurance that no proposals are adapted unless they have first been made public and discussed widely by all interested parties including the House of Assembly. It is not enough to say that the Government of the Province have agreed, much less that an individual Minister has agreed. Mr. Crebsbe, the Minister of Fisheries, has made public statements which indicate that he supports the plan to restructure the fishery on economic grounds. No Minister, or even a Cabinet, has authority to do this without widest possible consultation and approval. That is why I made my request that the entire proposal be made public so that it can be thoroughly discussed. Thirdly, we request and urge you to come to St. John's immediately to meet with me and other members of Caucus and with others in the fishery to discuss the entire matter.

In view of the fact that the C.P. report has received widespread attention here, and in view of the fact that the Minister of Fisheries has seen fit to comment publicly on it, I propose to release this letter to the press. I'd be grateful for an early reply.

Sincerely yours,

Edward Roberts

As I See It

BY TINA FAGAN

A young friend of mine worked on that trail and I remember how proud he was of the work and the protect when it was completed. And I know that these young people worked hard.

There was a considerable amount of money poured into the project with $8,000.00 in the form of an OFY grant for starters. The Grand Bank Lions Club, The Canadian Legion and the Grand Bank Town Council all invested money in the project and the total cost is difficult to determine. However, it was definitely too much at a tenth of the cost to let it go to ruin.

All I SEE IT, some group in the town should take some pride in the trail and take responsibility. The trail should have been officially turned over to the Town or one of the service clubs when it was completed. This apparently was not thought of by the persons involved with the development of the trail. I am surprised that the Town and both these organizations would invest money and just let it go to waste.

I feel that it is still not too late to fix up the project again and that the Town Council should take some interest in setting things right again. If they were to take the initiative and call a meeting with the other organizations in the Town, then some group may be forthcoming to take over the operation of the trail. I am frankly amazed that so much public money can be spent in town and then just forgotten. If this is to be the case, maybe the officials will think twice before allocating any more grants to any group in that town.

To install officers

Installation of officers for both the Kinsman and Kinette Clubs will take place in Marystown on Saturday, August 16. Special guest for the evening will be Zone Deputy Governor, Gerry Allen. Mr. Allen will preside over the installation ceremonies.

Two members of the Marystown Kinsman Club, Art Mercer and Kevin Pichette attended an Executive Seminar conducted by Deputy Governor Allen in Clarenville recently. The Seminar was held to acquaint executive members of the clubs on the zone and the National body for the coming year. Col Smith represented the Burin Club at the seminar.

Members of the Kinsman Clubs are now preparing for the Kinsman Convention to be held in St. John's later this month.

MAKE YOUR PLANT GROW IN A MEMORIAL

More and more people are turning to “living gifts”—house plants that are a constant reminder of the donor and the family in the home. Although most plants are easy to look after if you follow a few simple rules, it’s certain that within a few weeks of receiving the gift many people will be asking “why is my plant dying?”

Well neighbors, the reasons are many and varied, yet one thought you should keep in your mind is that the plant environment has changed, and it will take time to become accustomed to its new surroundings. Don’t forget the plant went to the florist directly from a greenhouse where it had ideal growing conditions.

Most Canadian homes are too dry in the winter. Plants that tolerate low humidity do well in the 40 to 50 percent relative humidity usually found in heated or air-conditioned homes or apartments. But this is just too dry for many plants that have been grown under ideal conditions.

Here are a few methods you could use to raise the humidity for house plants needing medium humidity:

- Keep plants where the kitchen is highest. The kitchen is usually a week or more before the rest of the house, and it is a source of “set-back.” Don’t use cold water right from the tap, it’s best to let the water stand overnight before using it so that it is at room temperature. Most plants can be more easily killed by overheating than by under-watering, so don’t water too often but when you do, don’t just dump the top soil. Soak the soil thoroughly and then DON’T water again until the earth is quite dry.

- And don’t forget your indoor plants need food just as much as those in your summer garden. Add some fertilizers like Instant Vigoro to the water about every four weeks.

- And now for some details on some plants you may have received over the holiday season.

AZALEA (Azalea indica) is a shrub very popular that produces white, pink, lavender or red blooms. The plant when the danger of frost is past, then set it in the garden. These will flower naturally in the fall. The new Mint Julep Mum is the best one I know of for growing outdoors and then bringing in for house decor in the fall.

NORFOLK ISLAND PINE ( Araucaria excelsa) has its branches a little like Instant Vigoro while actively growing.

Indirect sunlight—Sunlight diffused by a lightweight curtain placed between sun and plant. New plant in new situation.

Loo humidity—Normal humidity in a heated or air-conditioned house, 40 to 50 percent relative humidity.

Medium humidity—Relative humidity of about 70 percent.

Moderate temperature—Winter range of temperatures on the west coast, all of a normally heated room, 50° to 55° at night, 70° on sunny days, and 60° cloudy days.

Hot summer—Atmosphere saturated with moisture. (Attainable only in a greenhouse or terrarium.)

Some houseplant culture terms.

Lions Club to start youth club.

The Marysville Lions Club will shortly look to start a youth club of the Young Lions Club type in Marysville and will run a Youth Club there. The building was run by the Roman Catholic Church, then to be Marysville as a Youth Center and was recently taken over by the recreation Commission when the parish obtained a grant to improve the building. The Recreation Commission, however, is so involved that they were pleased to have the Lions Club take over the operation of the Club.

Lions President, Ross Oldford said they hope to have the Club operational by early September. The Club will have a boys and girls section with a half set, records, a small library and some other recreational facilities, Mr. Oldford said. The Club would be open to any youth over the age of 12 years.

New policy affecting short term social assistance

A ministerial statement by the Honourable A.J. Murphy on Short Term Social Assistance indicated that he wants to set the record straight regarding statistical information on Short Term Social Assistance which was recently released by the Statistics Branch of Government and misinterpreted by statements in some of the Newfoundland media.

The only statistics relevant to the economic picture in the province are those which relate to able-bodied cases. In the first six months of this year there was a slight increase (4 percent) over the same period last year. The main reason for this increase was the ice conditions on the east coast in the spring and summer of 1974 which ruined the east coast fisheries and prevented many fishermen from qualifying for unemployment insurance benefits this past winter. As a result more fishermen than usual had to seek Short Term Assistance during the spring, but the increase in able-bodied cases was only 4 percent over the same period last year - not 24 percent as indicated by statements in the media.

The 24 percent increase was in the total Short Term Assistance caseload which now, as a result of a policy change, includes those who are sick for short periods, chronic unemployed, and unwed mother, etc., as well as the able-bodied. Therefore, in actual fact, the increase in the total short term caseload has nothing very much to do with economic conditions. It has to do with a change in policy.

The new policy of government is to move Social Assistance recipients with employment potential from the long term system and supply them with monthly cheques. In the past people with minor ailments who had no potential for employment received Social Assistance. Under the new policy these people are being included in the short term caseload which is the main cause of the 24 percent increase. Unfortunately, nobody mentioned that the long term caseload would decrease correspondingly in the same period. In fact the total Social Assistance caseload has actually decreased.

What we are now doing is working with our chronic cases trying to get them into jobs. We have a special staff for this purpose to back up the efforts of social workers throughout the province. Government is proud of this policy, not ashamed of it."

General Synod news highlights

(1) Restructuring
(a) General Synod voted in favour of Newfoundland restructuring into three (3) dioceses. When we return from vacations in September, we can expect a flurry of activity leading toward our restructuring by early 1976 (perhaps by January!). Your continuing prayers and enthusiastic support are asked for in this venture.
(b) Our own Diocesan Synod meets November 7-9 in St. John's. This will be the last Synod for the Diocese of Nfld. as it presently exists. It is important that our own delegates plan now to attend.

Rev. Ralph Billard recently attended the General Synod of the Anglican Church held in Quebec. Rev. Billard wrote the following report on the Synod for his partners and other interested parties.

ST. MATTHEW 14-V-24

IF ANY MAN WILL COME AFTER ME, LET HIM DENY HIMSELF AND TAKE UP HIS CROSS AND FOLLOW ME.

The call of Christ comes to you and me to many others to go out and do something in his name. FOLLOW ME.

Christ is sounding today, the call of Service, even as he did long ago in Galilee.

He is calling some to give up all and to follow Him as Priest, Pastors, Teachers and Missionaries.

He is calling many others in their Profession, in their business and daily work, to follow Him.

A group of children are gathered in a class waiting for someone to teach them in the Christian Life. Who is sufficient for that task?

A young man faces life's temptation and looks to your example for guidance.

A Congregation is waiting in Church for a message from the Pulpit.

Hands are stretched out for the Bread of Life. Men and Women are hungry for God's word.

Perhaps when the call of God comes to you and the Master is depending upon you to be His Voice, His Hands, His Feet, you say to yourself, how can I say or do these things? If you refuse, you refuse the call of Christ.

When we forget ourselves and let Him use us we then become channels, means, ways that mean Life and Hope.

We preach not ourselves but Christ Jesus our Lord.

E.G. FIZZARD
CATECHIST, ST. THOMAS CHURCH
GRAND LE PIERRE.

(2) Church Union
(a) The report of the questionnaire conducted across Canada indicated that among both the laity and the clergy the greatest number (though by a narrow margin, especially among the clergy) wished to see the negotiations toward union with the other two churches continue. Most lay people felt that they did not have sufficient knowledge to form an opinion on the union issue. Over 100,000 returns were received from lay people across Canada, and 1318 clergy returns were received and were treated separately.

(b) There was considerable debate on the matter of Church Union. The final outcome was that we re-affirm our commitment to the Faith & Order section of the Principles of Union (1967) as a basis for negotiations with the United Church, the Christian Church Disciples of Christ, and other Christian Communions in Canada. That we affirm our commitment to the achievement of union with the United Church, the Christian Church Disciples of Christ, and other Christian Communions in Canada. But that PLAN OF UNION is not an acceptable basis of Union, but we acknowledge it as one of the available study documents in our quest for unity.

(c) The whole matter is referred again to the various committees and especially to Diocesan and Provincial Synods for further study. You may expect to hear more about this issue during the Fall and Winter.

(3) Ordination of Women
(a) While this is not a pressing issue in Nfld., at the moment we are, nevertheless, aware of what is going on in our Church across the nation. General Synod approved the ordination of women to the Priesthood at the discretion of the diocesan bishops acting within the normal procedures of their own jurisdiction and in consultation with the House of Bishops (i.e. with all the Bishops in the Canadian Church).

(b) Furthermore, General Synod recommended to diocese authorities that all types of lay ministries be open to qualified persons without regard to sex. This means that women will become eligible for any office in the church: church warden, select vestry; lay reader, server, deacon, priest...even Bishop!!

(4) Anglican-Roman Catholic Relations
Great things are happening at the Canterbury-ROM level of these two denominations.

General Synod approved the papers of agreement developed by the Committee representing these two denominations:

(1) A statement of Agreement on the Holy Eucharist. A statement of Agreement on the Ministry of the Church. It is encouraging to note that attitudes of greater understanding and acceptance are being developed amongst us.

5. The 'to me at General Synod was the Cultural Exchange weekend. From Friday (June 13) to Sunday afternoon (June 15) General Synod delegates were guests in Roman Catholic-French Canadian homes. They welcomed us into their hearts and homes, showed us the beautiful tourist attractions of their city and welcomed us into their churches on Sunday morning.

Many Anglican Bishops, priests, and lay people received Communion in R.C. churches in Quebec that Sunday. The 'spirit' of the event was something that would have to be lived through in order to fully appreciate.

The whole theme of General Synod was "Together in Christ" (Rencontre en Christ). The Cultural Exchange weekend served to engrave in theme upon our hearts and minds:

Galatians 4, vs. 25-28: "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ."

JOKES AND RIDDLES

A father who wants his children to get a good education these days may have to pull a few wires; the television wire, the telephone wire, the stereo wire and the radio wire.

Young man: I've come to ask for your daughter's hand in marriage.
Father: You’ll have to take all of her, or it’s no deal.

Bob: Want to see something swell?
Bob: Mt your head on a baseball bat.

A father took his son to the opera for the first time. The conductor starting waving his baton, and the soprano began her aria.
The boy watched everything and then asked, "Why is he hitting her with his stick?" His father answered, laughing, "Well, then, 'asked the boy, "why is she screaming?"

Father: Didn't you promise me to be a good boy?
Son: Yes, father.
Father: And didn’t I promise you no spending money if you weren’t?
Son: Yes, father. But since I’ve broken my promise, you can break yours, too.

Mrs. Smith: Why is Jones pacing up and down like that?
Mr. Green: He’s worried about his wife.
Mr. Smith: Why? What’s she got?
Mr. Green: The car.

It was the first day on the job for the pretty blond stenographer just out of business school. Her boss picked up the first of her finished letters and said with a sigh, "You can’t spell very well, can you? I see that you have spelled sugars u g s u g a r."
"Oh dear, so I have" she exclaimed. "Now how do you suppose I left out that ‘h’,"

Mrs. Jones to the new hired girl: Have you given the gold fish fresh water today?
Girl: No, Ma’am. They haven’t finished the water I gave them yesterday.

Lady to traffic cop "Does this summons cancel the one I got this morning?"
Teacher: What is your favorite state?
Sam: Mississippi.
Teacher: Spell it.
Sam: Er...I like Ohio much better.

Teacher: Yes, Sammy, what is it?
Sammy: I don’t want to scare you, but Pop said that if I don’t get better grades, someone is due for a spanking.
Professor "What was the outstanding accomplishment of the Romans!"
Student: "They understood Latin."

Fay: I throw myself into everything I undertake.
Jay: Go dig a deep well.

Tom: When you grow up you are going to be a M.D.
Jerry: Oh?
Tom: Yeah, Mentally Deficient.

One day a real skinny man was walking along when he met a real fat man.
The fat man said, "Looks like you've been in a famine. "So the skinny man said, "Looks like you caused it."

Mrs. Smith, reading a newspaper: Did you know that a great many accidents happen in the kitchens of our homes? Mr. Smith: Yes I know I’ve eaten quite a few of them.

Worn out babysitter to a returning parent: Don’t apologize for being late. I wouldn’t be in a hurry to come home either.

Bill: Last night I met a girl and fell in love at first sight.
Phil: Why didn’t you invite her to the prom? Bill: I took a second look.

Andy: Did you fill in that blank yet?
Randy: The one between your ears.

Mrs. Smith: Whenever I’m in the dumps I get a new hat.
Mrs. Jones: Oh, so that is where you get them.

An angry customer, telephoning her grocer; I sent my little boy for three pounds of nuts and you gave him only two pounds.
Are you sure that your scales are correct? The grocer replied, "Madame, my scales are quite accurate. Have you weighed your little boy?"

TIPS FOR YOU

Do you use your barbeque a lot? Do you know how to clean it before packing once the cold weather comes?

Would you like to get that tangy taste to your salad by making it with your own salad dressing? Begin by toasting the ingredients with a little French oil and vinegar dressing and let the salad marinate.

Do you have small children who love to paint but make an awful mess around the bathtub? Do you like the flavor of having your vegetables served in a pan to be washed.

BOOKS TO READ:

If you like books with the flavor of danger, excitement and romance, you will enjoy The Tidewater Inferno; Jaws and for those of you who enjoy the suggestion of mystery or witchcraft, The Slayer Of Souls is a good book.

If you have an interest in political books, Vision and Indecision and The Distemper of Our Times are both good reading.

MORE ON COOKING MEAT:

1. BROILING: Set the oven on broil. Keep meat 2 to 3" from heat until top is brown. Season with salt and pepper. Turn and broil other side. Season and serve at once.

   This method is best for: Beef: Steaks—rib, loin, top round and ground Pork: Smoked ham, bacon Lamb: Chops—shoulder, loin, ground, kidney, leg steaks Veal: liver.

   1. FUDGE
      - 1 tbsp salt
      - 1 bay leaf, crumbled
      - 5 peppercorns
      - 1/4 tsp maroram
      - 1 tsp tim
      - 1 cup cooked vegetable
      - 1/4 cup medium cream sauce
      - 1 cup cooked meat or flaked tuna
      - 1 sliced tomato
      - 1/2 cup milk

   HOUSEHOLD HINTS

   Does your brown sugar dry out? Try adding an apple to the package.

   If you want to prevent your rice grains from surfing while cooking, add a teaspoon of lemon juice to each quart of cooking water.

   If you like thicker soups, try adding two or three tablespoons of oatmeal or rice.

   MORE ABOUT CARPET

   Occasional a tuft will rise above the pile surface of a carpet. Just snip these tufts off, even with the others. DO NOT PULL. Cigarette damage cannot be completely remedied except by refuting. However, an area of carpet charred in a superficial manner can be improved by the following procedure:

   1. Wool Carpet:
      - Brush the charred ends away and vacuum.
      - Follow step two as for synthetic fibre.
      - Carefully clip off blackened ends of tufts with a small pair of scissors.
      - Follow with an application of detergent solution, blot and repeat as required.

   STAIN REMOVAL

   Grease, oil:

   Washables—If washing with soapsuds and hot water doesn’t remove the stain, try working in a detergent. If stain persists, apply a grease solvent. Place the stained article face down on a pad of some absorbent material. Sponge the back of the stain thoroughly with solvent, working from the center to the outside of the stain, using a light brushing motion. Allow the fabric to dry before application of grease solvent if necessary. Grease stains may be set by age or heat may leave a yellow stain after being treated with a solvent. To remove, apply bleach to the yellow stain and wash in the usual way.

   Iodine

   Washables: Soak in cool water until stain is removed. If stain remains, rub it with detergent and wash in warm suds. If not removed, soak fabric in a solution containing one tablespoon of Sodium Thiosulphate (available in drug stores) to each pint of warm water. Rinse thoroughly.
Youth Speaks

I am glad to hear that the Lions Club in Marystown is having a Youth Club. It will be good to have the club going and most of us teen-agers will go there.

The one thing that bothers us is the announcement on the radio saying that there has to be applications and you have to be a member of the club. Who is going to decide on these applications who will be accepted and who will not? I mean, who knows all the teen-agers in the area club members? And what, in their minds is a good club member?

We know lots of good kids who carry on and have a lot of fun but the adults may think they are loud and wild and bar them from the club, making them spend time on the streets and maybe becoming just that. There are a lot of us who are interested in the Club and would like to be part of it. But we do not want to belong to a club that is for a certain group only.

What we need is more information as to what this is all about. Maybe if the Lions had a meeting and explained this to us at the meeting, we would understand better. If they have applications at the meeting and explained the thing to us in detail, they would be over-run with applications.

We are interested in the club and do not want to see it fall. Please give us the information we need to make up our minds about this club so that he can pass the word to all the kids.

Agreement

In answer to questions following the speakers' presentation, Premier Moore reminded the audience that this was a new undertaking and was "pretty radical" (although, as speakers had pointed out earlier, similar projects were under way or in operation elsewhere in the world), and he emphasized that its effects would not be immediately felt.

"There will be no huge employment starting tomorrow morning," the Premier said. However, on the optimistic side, he emphasized that the option "is to develop, not just to do a study," and added that, with this company taking the project on, there was "a lot more hope than (from an agreement that wasn't signed the last time.)"
